

Week - 03 - Dictionaries, Files\Lecture_6_Code_2.py

```
1  '''
2  Building a dictionary from a file with generator object
3  '''
4  INPUT_FILE = 'Lecture_5_contacts.txt'
5
6  def file_generator(file=INPUT_FILE):
7      with open(file, 'r', encoding='utf-8') as input_file:
8          for line in input_file:
9              yield line
10
11 def parse_line(line):
12     name, contact = line.split(':')
13     # name = name.strip(' ')
14     # contact = contact.strip(' \n[]" ')
15     # contact = contact.split(',')
16     # return name, contact
17     contact.replace('[]', '')
18     return name.strip(' '), contact.strip(' ').split(',')
19
20 def build_dict(contacts_dict, name, contact):
21     contacts_dict[name] = contact
22     # can, or should use, setdefault() here
23
24
25 def main():
26     contacts_dict = {}
27     for line in file_generator():
28         name, contact = parse_line(line)
29         # build_dict(contacts_dict, name, contact)
30         # print("name is: ", name)
31         print("contact is: ", contact)
32     # print(contacts_dict)
33
34 main()
```